Miss Valburga Greiner Wins Auto in Contest

The Wetaskiwin Times big Circulation Campaign came to a conclusion on Saturday evening at nine o'clock. When the judges opened the ballot box, counted the ballots and announced the winners, it was found that Miss Valburga Greiner had earned the greatest number of credits, thereby winning the Chevrolet sedan car, and she may be now seen sporting her prize. The second prize was won by Miss Mary Cronin of Falun, with Nick Davidson taking third place.

The official statement made by the judges is as follows:

"We, the undersigned, acting in the capacity of judges in the 'Weekly Payroll' Circulation Campaign, just concluded by The Times, after canvassing the findings in the sealed ballot box and adding the totals due on same to the credit totals of their signed statements of Tuesday, October 18th, 1931, declare that to the best of our knowledge and belief, the following candidates be the winners in the order named:

1. Miss Valburga Greiner	10,748,310
2. Miss Mary Cronin	6,627,260
3. N. Davidson	5,087,365
4. Mrs. J. M. Clarke	3,056,770
5. Miss Violet Parker	2,448,810
6. Mrs. S. P. Schell	2,185,960
7. Miss Ruby Bye	1,904,060
8. Miss Nora Roper	665,410

Signed by the Advisory Board,
Bruce D. Howatt,
W. H. Odell,
J. T. Fenton,
C. C. Watson.

The announcement and the distribution of prizes has brought to a conclusion a very strenuous campaign which extended over a period of six weeks. While everyone could not be winner of the first prize, there was not a poor loser among the contestants, all declaring themselves as being pleased with the manner in which the contest was conducted and with the prizes they won. Every contestant declared herself as satisfied with the results, and each one made a host of new friends throughout the district during their solicitations, while The Times has bettered its position as the people's popular paper in this community, by adding several hundred new names to its already large subscription list.

The campaign throughout was handled by Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Baker of the Limer Circulation Service, and we believe that the entire campaign was handled very carefully and impartially by them, every one concerned being given a fair deal.

At this time The Times wishes to thank the judges for the service they rendered in counting the ballots; to the Bank of Montreal through the manager, Mr. C. C. Watson, for the use of the premises, and to all the contestants who worked so zealously in the interests of The Times throughout the campaign.

RED DEER VOTE SET FOR NOVEMBER 16

Red Deer, Oct. 19th.—With a three-cornered fight assured, voters of Red Deer provincial constituency will go to the polls November 16 to elect a successor to the late G. W. Smith, U. F. A. member of the legislature who died a few months ago. Nominations will take place November 8th.

The U. F. A. Conservatives and Liberals each have a candidate in the field, but defeat of the U. F. A. nominee would not affect to any degree the strength of Premier J. E. Brownlee's party. Standing of the parties at present is: Government (U. F. A.), 38; Liberals, 11; Conservatives, 6; Labor, 4; Independents, 31 vacant. R. L. Geetz has been chosen to carry the U. F. A. banner in the by-election, while the Conservatives have chosen W. E. Payne, K. C., and the Liberals have nominated James Bannerman. Two other candidates who may join in the race are Rev. T. M. Reville, Independent, and R. B. Welliver, Nationalist, although opinion accepts a three-cornered fight as most likely.

At a meeting of the executive and finance committee of the forthcoming show, held in Regina Friday, these dates were decided on. The committee will at once proceed with plans for the carrying out of the exhibition and conference in 1933.

Regina, Oct. 17.—The world's grain exhibition and conference will be held in Regina July 24 to August 5, 1933.

GUN INJURED HUNTER

Archibald Badger, a young man from Edmonton, was fortunate in that he did not lose an eye, when the breech block of his Marlin shotgun, flew back from the force of an exploded shell, and struck him in the face, fracturing his cheek-bone and deep large quantity of blood from the wound, which required five stitches. The accident occurred fifteen miles south of Bashaw—Canadian.

NOTICE TO OUR SUBSCRIBERS

During the last two weeks of the Subscription Campaign, which closed on Saturday evening, several hundreds of our subscribers renewed their subscriptions, and we are pleased to state that scores of new names have been added to our lists. Owing to the rush of work in the office it has been found impossible to correct the labels at time of going to press. These labels will be corrected, however, during the next few days, and we would ask our subscribers who renewed recently, to look at the label next week to see that they have been given properly. If the label has not been altered, kindly advise us at once, so that we may have the error checked up and rectified.

THIRTEENTH FORTNIGHTLY CROP REPORT
(Issued by the Department of Agriculture, Edmonton, Alberta, Oct. 17th, 1931.)

Since October 9th, warm bright weather has prevailed throughout Alberta and during the past week excellent progress has been made with threshing. In the Peace River district about 80 per cent of threshing has been completed, and a large part of the grain remaining has been stacked. In northern Alberta threshing is everywhere progressing rapidly. The amount completed varies from 15 to 50 per cent with an average of about 40 per cent. In the central part of the Province about 75 per cent of all grains are threshed, while in the south threshing has been completed for some time.

In central and northern Alberta and the Peace River district a considerable percentage of early threshed wheat graded tough. At present, however, practically all wheat is receiving straight grades and if present weather conditions continue, the percentage of the total crop grading tough and damp will be comparatively small. A large percentage of the wheat being marketed at present grades No. 1 and 2 Northern.

Yields reported at various points indicate that the Federal Bureau of Statistics estimate of 175 bushels per acre throughout the Province will be sustained. Lacombe reports yields of from 30 to 75 bu. of wheat, 50 to 100 bu. of oats and 30 to 60 bu. of barley.

At Vermilion the estimated average yield of wheat is 30 bu. per acre and in the Peace River district an average of 20 bu. wheat, 40 bu. of oats per acre are being obtained.

The greater part of the potato and root crop has already been harvested and excellent yields and good quality are reported. On the irrigated districts threshing of sweet clover and alfalfa for seed is well advanced. About 80 per cent of the best crop has been lifted. 45,000 tons are now stored at the factory at Raymond and large quantities are still at farms awaiting shipment. The sugar content is reported to be high, and the sugar beet factory is operating at full capacity, cutting 1050 tons of beet daily.

Pasture conditions in all parts of the Province with exception of the central and south-eastern districts are excellent. Late rains in the south-west have considerably improved pastures and made fall ploughing possible. In all probability a considerable acreage will be fall ploughed on the irrigated area. Practically no fall ploughing has been done to date outside of these districts.

Obituary

CHRISTIAN BAILER

On Friday at 6:30 a.m. there passed away quietly at his home, Christian Bailer, at the age of 79 years. He leaves to mourn his loss, five sons, one daughter and 26 grandchildren, besides many friends and acquaintances. Two of his children and his loving wife, Susanna (nee Weger) predeceased him.

He was born near Warsaw, in Poland, and came to Canada about 40 years ago, taking a homestead about five miles from Wetaskiwin, which was his permanent home.

He was sick for about ten years. He was consoled by the words and promises of Jesus, and, taking Holy Communion, he was prepared for eternal heavenly rest. As he passed from this life, his last word being the name of Jesus.

The funeral service was conducted in St. John's Lutheran church at Pleasant Prairie, by the Rev. H. G. H. Klingbeil, speaking words of comfort to the people of God. Let us labor therefore to enter into that rest.

The remains were then taken to the family plot in the Wetaskiwin cemetery, where he buried his wife some 15 years ago.

The congregation will remember him for the three acres of land which he gave as church site.

NORMAN H. DEERING

A cloud of sorrow was hanging over the home of Mr. Chas. Deering when his four-year-old son Norman Herbert passed away on Tuesday, Oct. 13th.

The funeral service was conducted in St. John's Evangelical Lutheran church on Thursday, Oct. 15th. Rev. Klingbeil spoke on the words of Jesus "Verily I say unto you, whoever shall not receive the kingdom of God as a little child, he shall not enter therein." Mark 10:15.

Norman Herbert's remains were interred in St. John's cemetery near the church. He leaves to mourn his loss, his parents, four sisters and two brothers, besides many relatives and friends.

MAIL FLIERS SET TWO NEW RECORDS

Inter-city speed records on Canadian Airways mail runs are being shattered.

Last week Pilot Paul Calder set them at Calgary, only one minute behind that of Capt. Frank Hawks, who had all the advantage of a racing aeroplane and nothing to do but break records.

On flight following Pilot C. M. G. Farrell raced between Calgary and Lethbridge in just 22 minutes, at a speed—if you want to figure it out—of 259.9 miles per hour, for the 108 1/2 miles.

7,000 LOSE JOBS THROUGH DRASTIC CUTS IN U.S. NAVY

Washington, Oct. 17.—With strokes cutting more than $50,000,000 from its 1933 expenditures the United States navy has eliminated its less important activities and has sharply curtailed many that it valued highly.

More than 3,000 civilian employees will be laid off. More than 4,000 sailors and marines will be taken from the rolls.

A parade of all ex-service men, Boy Scouts and Girl Guides will fall in at the Alexandra school at 10:15 and march to the Theatre, with Comrade Bear in command.

In the evening of the same day all ex-service men are invited to a Canadian party in the skating rink, where a good time is expected, the only qualification necessary is the payment of a dollar.

Millions Mourn Death of Thomas A. Edison

TWO LOCAL MEMBERS ADDRESS KIWANIS CLUB

On Tuesday evening, Kiwanians Frank Aboussey and R. W. Manley addressed the Wetaskiwin Kiwanis Club, the former taking as his subject "The relation of food to the human body," and the latter referred briefly to some phases of "Law in General." Frank, who has made a close study of the effect of food on the body, spoke of the process of the food through the system, and referred in particular to the development of the brain.

Kiwanian Manley stated that the Canadian Bar Association was organized sixteen years ago and had done a lot for the lawyers and indirectly for the public. He referred to many corrections in the bankruptcy act, the statute of limitations, as well as to the uniform law in mercantile matters.

DR. ROWAN CONTINUES HIS CROW EXPERIMENTS

Dr. Rowan of the Department of Zoology of the University of Alberta is continuing his crow studies which were started two years ago. While there are many problems which present themselves for study in the experiment the main one is in trying to ascertain the relation between internal secretions and animal behavior with particular reference to migration of birds.

Approximately 400 crows were being kept in an aviary near the High Level bridge where by the use of an artificial light a longer period of daylight is provided. This continuation of light hours of daylight instead of the normal shortening days has a direct effect on the internal secretion of the crows and it is believed that this in turn affects the migratory instinct.

Two years ago crows were kept under similar conditions and then released in November from Edmonton, and set up north into the Lesser Slave River valley. They were shot as late as February 22nd after experiencing temperatures of 60 deg. below zero without any apparent ill effects.

This year the crows are being released at Medicine Hat and as they usually fly in a northwest-southeast direction, Edmonton will be in a direct line of flight and people will be able to get a chance to shoot them as they migrate northwards and more definite data can be obtained than if they were released from Edmonton.

YOUTH MOVEMENT CONVENTION HELD AT PONOKA

With serious purpose and zest the Young People of the United Church have organized a Society with the objectives of study and service and recreation. It is composed chiefly of those of adult age who are engaged in serious pursuits of daily life.

Meetings will be held each alternate Sunday evening after church service and each alternate Tuesday. The first Sunday evening meeting was held last Sunday. The young people journeyed down to Ponoka last Thursday evening to join in with a convention of Young People Societies from Chive, Bentley, Lacombe, Millet, Morrisburg, as well as Wetaskiwin.

A round table discussion on aims and methods of the young people's work in the Church was conducted by Rev. Mr. Hibbert of Calgary.

A basket tea provided the opportunity for social acquaintance. In the evening Rev. Dr. Duncan of Edmonton, addressed over a hundred of the delegates with a breezy and pointed homily on "Getting into the Game." The newly elected officers of this Union of the Y.P.S. throughout the district were installed, among them Miss McKay takes the responsibility of treasurer.

Inter-town activities among the young people of the Church will be promoted by further gatherings for debates, literary and missionary studies, and recreational programs. It was inspiring to see such a large convention of Young People.

Rev. T. R. Davies, minister of the United Church at Ponoka, will address the young people of the United Church here on Sunday night in line with this youth movement.

One of our good wives thought to embrace her husband by saying "I listened to you for half an hour last night while you were talking in your sleep." She expected him to look all hot and bothered, but he replied with great dignity: "Thank you my dear, I wish you would extend me the same courtesy when I am awake."

West Orange, N.J., Oct. 19.—Thomas A. Edison in death received today the homage of the millions for whom he had made life more comfortable.

The body of the 84-year-old inventor, who died at 3:24 a.m. Sunday, lay in state in the library of his laboratory.

After a private funeral Wednesday at his Glenmont estate here, Mr. Edison will be buried in Rosedale Cemetery here.

President Hoover hoped to come from Washington, Wednesday, to stand at Mr. Edison's bier, both as a personal friend and as head of a sorrowing nation. Meanwhile Henry Ford and Harvey Firestone, the inventor's two "old cronies," hastened to West Orange.

Mr. Edison slipped quietly from a deep coma into a lasting sleep Sunday morning. Holding his hand was Mrs. Edison for 45 years his constant companion. At the bedside were his six children.

After his death, Dr. Hubert S. Howe disclosed that Mr. Edison, on learning recovery was improbable, did not desire to live. His life's work done, he did not wish to place an invalid's burden on his family, he said.

Some of Thomas A. Edison's inventions are:

- The incandescent lamp, which bathed the globe in a new brilliance. It was given to the world in 1879.
- The phonograph, 1877, Edison's favorite invention.
- The carbon telephone transmitter, 1875, which made telephony a commercial art.
- The microphone, 1878, and the electric valve which is now fundamental in radio.
- Motion pictures, 1894, which have revolutionized the entertainment industry.
- An alkaline storage battery.
- Machines for quadruple and sextuple telegraphic transmission, 1870-1874. They saved the investment of millions in wires.
- Many appliances and improvements for the transmission of electric light, heat and power.
- The electric pen, mimeograph and telecube.

He designed, built and operated several chemical plants as the result of the Great War emergency.

LOADED FREIGHT CAR WITH VEGETABLES DONATED FOR NEEDY

Provost, Oct. 17.—A C.P.R. freight car of vegetables, consisting of beets, potatoes, carrots, turnips and cabbages, donated by the people of the district to their less fortunate neighbors in the southern part of the province, was loaded at Hayter Wednesday. Half of the carload is to be supplied from the Hayter district, while the other half will be loaded from Provost.

CHUTES AND BELTS TO HANDLE ONE MILLION LETTERS AN HOUR

Planned as the largest mail-distributing point in the world, the new post office under construction at Chicago will be equipped with more than twenty miles of conveyor belts, about 500 electric motors for power and thousands of feet of chutes to enable the handling of 1,200,000 letters and hundreds of tons of parcel post and newspapers hourly. Mechanisms will handle the mail in virtually all stages. Incoming mail will be lifted to upper floors and there handled and distributed to chutes leading to predetermined loading places on the main floor. It is calculated that by 1943, the Chicago office will handle 15,500,000 letters on a peak day.

ARMISTICE HOLIDAY TO BE COMPULSORY DEPT. RULES

Ottawa, Oct. 19.—Armistice Day, Nov. 11, will be observed throughout Canada as a public holiday, according to the Act passed at the last session of parliament regulating observance of the cessation of hostilities on Nov. 11, 1918. The occasion will be celebrated in the same manner as Canadian people celebrate Labor Day, Dominion Day, and other national holidays, according to the meaning of the act, it was said today at the office of the secretary of state.

HORRORS OF FIRE
CAN BE AVERTED

We are entering on the season
when more heat is required in homes and when the dangers of fire seem to increase. There are precautions which all should take, in order that the community may suffer no loss.
There are things to do and things
not to do.

Things To Do

Keep waste paper, packing material and rubbish cleaned up, and remove from building at least daily.

Make frequent personal inspections
from a fire standpoint.

Instruct and drill employees on what to do in case of fire.

Be careful about the use of machines. Put up "No Smoking" signs, especially in hazardous sections.

Locate the fire department phone number and put it near your phone where it can easily be seen.

See that your electric wiring is standard and be careful in the use of electrical devices.

Have all smoke pipes and chimneys inspected and repaired by a competent person before starting fires for winter.

Keep gasoline in safety cans and in a safe place.

Keep water barrels and pails filled and extinguishers charged.

Use only safe floor oils and sweeping compounds.

Feed your personal responsibility for possible loss of life and property
by fire and act accordingly.

Things Not To Do

Don't put ashes in other than metal receptacles and don't dump them where they will come in contact with combustible material.

Don't use wooden lockers.

Don't permit oily rags to lie around.

Don't hang electric light cords on nails.

Don't let the fact that you are injured make you careless.

Don't use an open light when looking for escaping gas or in the presence of inflammable liquids.

Don't use sawdust in spitons or to absorb oils.

Don't throw away lighted matches,
cigars or cigarettes.

Don't use kerosene, benzine or nap-

tha in lighting fires, or to quicken a slow fire—it may result in death.

Don't make bonfires of rubbish where the wind can scatter it. Burn it in a container.

Don't hang electric light cords on
nails.

Don't let the fact that you are injured make you careless.

Don't use an open light when look-

ing for escaping gas or in the presence of inflammable liquids.

tha in lighting fires, or to quicken a

Central America may be encased in mahogany, and a European bank recently sent over a few millions packed in steel drums with tops riveted on, and sent three of its own officials to accompany the shipment. The drums were so heavy as to meet with terrible protest.

Precautions in regard to sealing and identifying the kegs are so finely planned as to discourage a Hou-dini. From the ships the gold is transferred in armored trucks by armed guards.

Gold in bulk is so heavy as not to be particularly enticing as to steal.
One million in gold would weigh more than a ton and a half difficult to dispose of.

American coins go straight to the Federal Bank Reserve but foreign coin and bullion is always sent to the Assay office for melting.

HOSPITALS—A GOOD INVESTMENT

We have all been growing about our dividends falling off. No components to cut. The cupboard getting bare. The future not very rosy. The trouble is that some of us have overlooked a gilt-edged security we have.
It's one that in all history has never paid such high dividends as it does today. Health Preservation it's called, and it's issued by the approved hospitals in our communities. The American College of Surgeons, the organization which puts its seal of approval upon hospitals meeting certain standards for good care of patients, which might be described as the holding company.

Announcement of the list of 2,155 hospitals in the United States and Canada, which the American College of Surgeons at its recent clinical congress in New York designated as approved should serve to remind us that these institutions are among our greatest assets. Although it is true that the actual investment in hospital is over $4,000,000,000, their value lies not simply in land, buildings and equipment. The fact is that every approved hospital pays actual cash dividends to its community.
Let's stop estimate them for a moment.

It is a recognized fact that since hospital standardization was put into effect in 1918 with the first annual survey of such institutions by the American College of Surgeons, the average death rate in approved hospi-erage time that patients must stay in hospitals has also been reduced by half. Where 15 years ago a patient being treated for appendicitis had to spend 25 to 30 days in the hospital, now he spends, on the average, only 10 days for exactly the same type of case. All this has meant thousands of lives saved that would otherwise have been lost, the earning power of many families increased, countless hours of productive time restored to industry.

Consider simply the return on lives saved that would otherwise be lost through inefficient surgery, careless nursing, and poor management. An approved hospital of 200 beds, for instance, will annually care for about 5,000 patients, whose total maintenance cost will average $300,000. If this hospital saves from this number only 10 per cent who would have died but for the better care given, it would mean a saving of 500 lives. According to the value of a human life at $5,000. At this rate the net return to the community from one approved hospital alone on but one item would be $2,500,000. And this capitalizes into a single phase of hospital service. We have not yet evaluated the saving to industry, the reduction in number of public dependents, the increase in family incomes, not to mention that which is above price—the suffering alleviated.

Where is the industry that can match
these dividends?

Despite the economic crisis approved hospitals, unlike some business organizations, are not contemplating retrenchments in their services to the public for the coming year. They expect instead to have to carry a larger burden than before because of the many more persons needing hospital aid in times of financial distress. The minimum standard of the American College of Surgeons, around which approved hospitals are developed, will help them to carry this added burden because the principles contained in the standard are based on sound economic and stress good organization and management rather than a lavish display of glittering equipment. Every good hospital must have funds, however,
and those who receive dividends from it should see the good sense of putting back some of the returns into the business.—Hanna Herald.

DEMAND FOR CANADIAN WHEAT
FROM OVERSEAS IMPROVED

Indications of a decided improvement in export demand for Canadian wheat were shown in a report received Saturday by W. H. Blatchford, assistant grain commissioner for Alberta, showing the movement of Western Canadian crops for the month of September. The volume of export clearances from ports during this month showed a slight increase over the previous four weeks in August.

"The fact that the Canadian dollar has been seriously discounted," the report states, "following the temporary suspension of the gold standard in Britain, should give Canadian wheat a slight advantage in the export markets, unless other exporters reduce prices to a competitive basis. The Australian currency still continued at a substantial discount under the British pound, so it is likely that country will continue to hold the large share of the Oriental market for export wheat, for the present."

"In the meantime," the report continues, "weekly world shipments of wheat and flour continue high, but as the amounts 'on passage' to Europe are decreasing rather than increasing, it is apparent the market is absorbing supplies freely."
Shipments from Russia appear to have passed the peak, confirming the

CANADA OFFERS PARADISE TO HUNTERS

With the fall of the leaf and the tang of autumn in the air the fishing rod is laid aside and the shotguns, as the hunting season is under way. True to her reputation as one of the world's greatest playgrounds, Canada offers a wide range of sport, furred, feathered and horned, to all who care to penetrate its far-flung hinterlands.

From coast to coast, all along the vast system of the Canadian Pacific Railway, there are countless established points of entry into the woods and mountains, readily accessible to those in search of game. The shores of countless lakes, rivers, and creeks, abound with all varieties of duck and goose and are not infrequently the scene of the termination of successful expeditions after moose, elk and deer of all kinds. New Brunswick rivals Ontario and Quebec as moose territory, while further west, the towering Rockies offer their tribute of bear, mountain sheep and mountain goat. Bear are also plentiful in the Ontario northland and in certain parts of Quebec. With a view to preservation, various changes have been made this year in the game laws of all Canadian provinces, but even with the new restrictions a broad period of hunting is offered and the invading army from Canadian centres, as well as from the United States, is

TREES

Those who would encourage cutting down trees might well read the following little but pointed verse. It was written by Joyce Kilmer, who gave his life on the battlefields of France:
I think that I shall never see
A poem lovely as a tree.

A tree whose hungry mouth is prest
Against the earth's most flowing breast.

A tree that looks at God all day
And lifts her leafy arms to pray;

A tree that may in summer wear
A nest of robins in her hair;

Upon whose bosom snow has lain
Who intimately lives with rain.

Poems are made by fools like me,
But only God can make a tree.

TRANSIENT TRADER

The right of the transient trader, who goes through a district selling goods which might be bought at local stores, is a vexing question frequently coming before Councilors of municipalities. Yet these traders are permitted through legislation, despite the harm which they may do to local business.

The matter was brought up before the Okotoks Council at the last meeting, finding a spokesman in Councillor Visser. A few other pointed truths were brought up at the Oko-toks Council, as recorded in the Review and are sufficiently true of all towns to be worth passing on:

"Councillor Visser brought up the matter of a person who had been several days in town selling goods which could have been bought at a local store and asked if nothing could be done to protect our local stores against these peddlers or transient traders. Information was elicited that this vexed question had often been brought up before and owing to protection given these traders by licenses from the Provincial and Dominion Governments and also judicial decisions nothing could be done.

"Considerable criticism was passed by those present on residents of town who patronized these transients to the detriment of local business, paying just as much and in many cases more than the goods could be obtained for locally. Others drove up to Calgary to do all their shopping there. Some of the businessmen themselves were among the offenders in both cases. This buying out of town not only hurt the business of those affected directly but it indirectly affected the general prosperity of the whole community and thereby the prosperity of those who did the buying out of town themselves."

Synopsis

Six people, Horace Johnson (who tells the story), his wife, old Mrs. Dane, Herbert Robinson and sister Alice, and Dr. Sperry, friends and neighbors, are in the habit of holding weekly meetings. At one of them, Mrs. Dane, who is hostess, varies the program by unexpectedly arranging a spiritualistic seance with Miss Jeremy, a friend of Dr. Sperry and not a professional, as the medium.

The sitting opens with the customary table rapping and other inconsequential and humorous happenings. Then the medium goes into a trance and gives disjointed details of a murder. After the sitting breaks up and the members go home, Sperry telephones Johnson and tells him Arthur Wells has killed himself.

At midnight, shortly after we reached home, Sperry called me the phone. "Be careful, Horace," he said. "Don't let Mrs. Horne think anything has happened. Arthur Wells killed himself tonight, shot himself in the head. I want you to go there with me."

"Arthur Wells?"

"Yes, I say, Horace, did you happen to notice the time the seance began tonight?"

"It was five minutes after nine when my watch fell."

"Then it would have been about half past when the trance began?"

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY. I told him he was right.

"Then that fixes the time at which Miss Jeremy told us of the murder," he came back over the phone.

There was silence at Sperry's end of the wire. Then:

"Wells was shot about 9:30," he said, and rang off.

I am not ashamed to confess that my hands shook as I hung up the receiver. As I stood there, I wondered for the first time whether there might not be, after all, a spirit-world surrounding us, cognizant of all that we did, touching but intangible, sentient but tuned above our common senses?

I was shocked by the news, but not greatly grieved. The Welles had been among us but not of us, as I have said. Of the two, I myself had preferred Arthur. His faults were on the surface. He drank hard, gambled, and could not always pay his gambling debts. But underneath it all there had always been something boyishly honest about him. He had played, it is true, through most of the thirty years that now marked his whole life, but he could have been made a man by the right woman. And he had married the wrong one.

Of Elinor Wells I have only my wife's verdict, and I have found that, as is the way with many good women, her judgment of her own sex is rather merciless. A tall, handsome girl, very dark, my wife has characterized her as cold, calculating and ambitious. She has said frequently, too, that Elinor Wells was a disappointed woman, that her marriage while giving her social identity, had disappointed her in a monetary way.

There was no doubt, by the time they had lived in our neighborhood for a year, that a complication had risen in the shape of another man.

Our street has never had a scandal on it, except the one when the Berrington's music teacher ran away with their coachman, in the days of carriages. And I am glad to say that that is almost forgotten.

Nevertheless, we had realized for some time that the dreaded triangle was threatening the reputations of our quiet neighborhood, and as I stood by the telephone that night I saw it had come. More than that, it seemed very probable that into this very triangle our peaceful Neighborhood Club had been suddenly thrust.

The street, with its open spaces, was a relief after the dark hall. I started for Sperry's house, my head bent against the wind, my mind on the news I had just heard.

Sperry was waiting on his doorstep, and we went on to the Wells house.

Although the Wells house was brilliantly lighted when we reached it, we had difficulty in gaining admission.

"We might try the servants' entrance," Sperry said. Then he laughed mirthlessly.

"We might see," he said. "If there is a key on the nail among the vines."

I confess to a nervous tightening of my muscles as we made our way around the house. If the key was there, we were on the track of a revelation that might revolutionize much that we had held fundamental in us. Wells was shot," Sperry said.

As I sat alone in the library, the house was perfectly silent. But in some strange fashion it had apparently taken on the attributes of the deed that had preceded the silence.

It was sinister, mysterious, dark. Overwrought as I was, I was forced to bring my common sense to bear on the situation. Here was a tragedy, a real and terrible one. Suppose we had in some queer fashion, touched its outer edges that night? Then how was it that there had come mixed up with such things that might be pertinent, such extraneous and grotesque things as a hurt knee, and throwing watches and pens about.

I remember moving impatiently, and trying to argue myself into my ordinary logical state of mind, but I know now that even then I was wondering whether Sperry had found a hole in the ceiling upstairs.

Suppose Sperry came down and said Arthur Wells had been shot above the ear and that there was a second bullet hole in the ceiling? Added to the key on the nail, a careless custom and surely not common, we would have conclusive proof that our medium had been correct. There was another point, too. Miss Jeremy had said, "Get the ladder off his face."

I knew from my own experience that suicide is either a desperate impulse or a cold-blooded and calculated finality. A man who kills himself while dressing comes under the former classification, and will usually seize the first method at hand. But would a man stop shaving to kill himself? If he did, why a revolver? Why not the razor in his hand?

That brought me up with a turn. There was something else, too. Shaving is an automatic process. It completes itself. My wife has an irritated conviction that if the house caught fire while I was in the midst of the process, I would complete it and wipe the soap from my face before I caught up the fire extinguisher.

Had he killed himself, or had Elinor killed him? Was she the sort to sacrifice herself to a violent impulse? Would she choose the hard way, when there was the easy one of the divorce court? I thought not. And the same was true of Ellingham.

Here were two people, both of them careful of appearance, if not of fact. There was another possibility, too. That he had learned something while he was dressing, had attacked or threatened her with a razor, and she had killed him in self-defence.

I had reached that point when Sperry came down the staircase ushering out the detective and the medical man. He came to the library door and stood looking at me, with his face rather paler than usual.

"I'll take you up now," he said. "She's in her room, in bed, and she has had an opiate."

"Was he shot above the ear?"

"Yes."

I did not look at him, nor he at me. We climbed the stairs and entered the room, where, according to Elinor's story, Arthur Wells had killed himself. It was a dressing-room, as Miss Jeremy had described. A wardrobe, a table with books and magazines in disorder, two chairs, and a couch, constituted the furnishings. Beyond was a bathroom. On a chair by a window the dead man's evening clothes were neatly laid out, his shoes beneath. His top hat and folded gloves were on the table.

Wells lay on the couch.

The house was absolutely still.

When I glanced at Sperry he was staring at the ceiling and I followed his eyes, but there was no mark on it. Sperry made a little gesture.

"The detective and I put him there. He was here." He showed a place on the floor midway of the room.

"Where was his head lying?" I asked, cautiously.

"Here."

I stooped and examined the carpet. It was a dark Oriental, with much red in it. I touched the place, and then ran my folded handkerchief over it. It came up stained with blood.

"There would be no object in using cold water there, so as not to set the stain," Sperry said thoughtfully.

"Whether he fell there or not, that is where she allowed him to be found."

"You don't think he fell there?"

"She dragged him, didn't she?" he demanded. Then the strangeness of what he was saying struck him, and he smiled foolishly. "What I mean is, the medium said she did. I don't suppose any jury would pass us tonight as entirely sane, Horace," he said.

He walked across to the bathroom and surveyed it from the doorway. I followed him. It was as orderly as the other room. On a glass shelf over the wash-stand were his razors, a safety, and, beside it, in a black case, an assortment of the long-bladed variety, one for each day of the week, and so marked.

Sperry stood thoughtfully in the doorway.

"The servants are out," he said. "According to Elinor's statement he was dressing when he did it."

"And yet someone has had a wild impulse for tidiness here, since it happened. Not a towel out of place?"

It was in the bathroom that he told me Elinor's story. According to her, it was a simple case of suicide. And she was honest about it, in her own way. She was shocked, but she was not pretending any wild grief.

She hadn't wanted him to die, but she hadn't felt that they could go on much longer together. There had been no quarrel other than their usual bickering. They had been going to a dance that night. The servants had all gone out immediately after dinner to a servants' ball and the governess had gone for a walk.

She was to return at nine-thirty to fasten Elinor's gown and to be with the children.

Arthur, she said had been depressed for several days, and at dinner had hardly spoken at all. He had not, however, objected to the dance. He had, indeed, seemed strangely determined to go, although she had pleaded ed a headache. At nine o'clock he went upstairs, apparently to dress.

She was in her room, with the door shut, when she heard a shot. She ran in and found him lying on the floor of his dressing-room with his revolver behind him. The governess was still out. The shot had roused the children, and they had come down from the nursery above. She was frantic, but she had to soothe them.

The governess, however, came in almost immediately, and she had sent her to the telephone to summon help, calling Sperry first of all, and then the police.

"Have you seen the revolver?" I asked.

"Yes. It's all right, apparently. Only one shot has been fired."

"How soon did they get a doctor?"

"It must have been some time. They gave up telephoning, and the governess went out, finally, and found one."

"Then, while she was out—"

"Possibly," Sperry said. "If we start with the hypothesis that she was lying."

"If she cleaned up here for any reason," I began, and commenced a desultory examination of the room. Just why I looked behind the bathtub forces me to an explanation I am somewhat loath to make, but which will explain a rather unusual proceeding. For some time my wife has felt that I smoked heavily, and out of her solicitude for me has limited me to one cigar after dinner. But as I have been a heavy smoker for years I have found this a great hardship, and have therefore kept a reserve store, by arrangement with the housemaid, behind my tub. In self-defence I must also state that I seldom have recourse to such stealthy measures.

There is no remedy like B.B.B. for giving relief, no remedy that can do more for those who are driven to distraction by the terrible tortures of eczema.

Mrs. Cecil MacKay, Nashua, Bridge, N.B., writes: "For a number of years I was troubled with eczema on my hands and they would itch and burn so at night I could not rest."

I tried different remedies and ointments, but of no avail. At last I was advised to take Burdock Blood Bitters, and after taking three bottles my hands were completely healed, and I have not had a sign of the eczema since."

PRANK ENDS IN FATALITY
Edmonton, Oct. 19—A childish prank sent E. Laisneau, 63, farmer, near Legat, to his death on Friday.

He died late in the afternoon as a result of being thrown to the road when his team shied at a black cow. He left on the roadway by a boy of 13. The boy told police he had left the hide on the road with the idea of scaring other children.

Smith: I hear your daughter married a struggling young man.

Jones: Well, he did struggle, but he couldn't get away.

One spoonful of Phillips' Milk of Magnesia neutralizes instantly many times its volume in acid. Harmless and tasteless, and yet its action is quick. You will never rely on crude methods, once you learn how quickly this method acts. Be sure to get the genuine.

SOMETHING WRONG!
Ponoka's population $30 as revealed by the recent census must be disappointing to every citizen—only an increase of 118 in ten years. It is not the Herald's duty to give a reason or offer a remedy, but something drastic must be undertaken. Why should our population be almost stagnant? We have the climate, the water and the finest soil in the world. Will our town council bestir themselves; appoint a delegation to interview the minister of health with a view of having a commission sit and advise on ways and means? Yes, our little community is passing through a vale of humiliation in this respect, and the slogan should resound from every house-top—"Let Ponoka Multiply!"—Ponoka Herald.

PRESIDENT OF SASK. WHEAT POOL IS DEAD

Regina, Oct. 21.—Operated on two weeks ago for appendicitis and apparently well on the road to recovery A. J. MacPhail, president of the Saskatchewan Wheat Pool since its inception in 1924, died suddenly early this morning when a blood clot formed in the blood stream, affecting his heart.

FIRE DESTROYS WINNING STOCK ON E.P. RANCH
Calgary, Oct. 21.—Damage on the Prince of Wales ranch Monday night near High River, Alta., by fire claimed the $1,000 champion cow Balcarran Lavatera; the $600 champion heifer, Princeton Lily; the $600 yearling heifer Princeton Jessie, and seven young bulls.

Prof. W. L. Carlyle, manager of the ranch, believed that spontaneous combustion caused the outbreak. All the ranch hands battled the flames but the high wind blocked their efforts and the fire spread rapidly. For 12 hours the fire was fought before it was prevented from spreading to other buildings of the ranch. Prof. Carlyle said the champion cow and heifers were being prepared for the Royal Winter show at Toronto.

Landlord: "I intend to raise your rent next month."

Tenant: "That's nice of you. I was just wondering how I was going to do it myself!"

It's great to FEEL FIT!

TODAY's the day of outdoor life! Men and women retain their youth—their joy in a healthful, vigorous body.

A daily enemy of health is constipation. Intestinal sluggishness often leads to headaches, backaches, lack of pep, premature aging, loss of good looks.

It is unwise to fight constipation with habit-forming pills and drugs. They often do more harm than good.

The wise and healthful way is to correct the diet. Your system needs "bulk" and Vitamin B in generous quantities to keep it healthfully regular.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN, a delicious ready-to-eat cereal, gives you both of these things. It furnishes "bulk," which gently exercises the intestines. And Vitamin B, which tones them up.

In addition, Kellogg's ALL-BRAN contains iron, which helps build rich, red blood!

Start now to eat Kellogg's ALL-BRAN regularly—either as a cereal or in cooked foods. Two tablespoons daily are usually sufficient to prevent and to relieve most cases of constipation. (See your doctor, however, if you suffer from intestinal trouble not relieved this way.)

Be sure you get Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. In the red-and-green package. Made by Kellogg in London, Ont.

An American Woman and a Russian Bath

When hundreds of American engineers signed gilt-edged contracts with the Soviet government, hundreds of American women followed their husbands across the sea. Of that number I was one. Close on the heels of this migration to Soviet Russia came domestic problems which clamored for solution. With some the question was food, with others, servants; and others, companionship. In the American colony with which my lot was cast, however, the problem was the daily ablutions.

As everyone who has studied the Russian situation knows one of the chief problems of the Soviet government is the matter of overcrowding housing conditions. However, some master mind in drawing up plans for new buildings conceived the brilliant idea of conserving space and effecting sweeping economies by combining the functions of kitchen and bathroom.

Now, closely related to the bath-kitchen problem is the Soviet economic policy of providing as few materials for domestic consumption as is humanly possible. Therefore,

I shortly discover that I can buy neither curtain material for my kitchen windows nor a large water bucket nor an ice box because during certain seasons of the year these articles are absolutely not to be had in any of the stores.

Two more points not to be overlooked in the presentation of the bath-kitchen situation must also be mentioned here. First that the kitchen is also the home of the Russian servant. Because of the acute housing shortage, and because of her lack of importance as a worker in the Soviet eyes, the government stands firm on the position that the only space it can conscientiously assign to her as her home is the kitchen of the family for whom she works.

Perhaps you are curious to know exactly where a Russian servant would sleep in a two-room and ten by ten and one half bath-kitchen ménage. Do let me tell you. On a large board fitted over the bathtub!

The second point which is a vital factor is that in all of the new apartment houses of the type with which we are concerned there is but one water spigot to each apartment—a cold one—and that over the kitchen sink.

The ultimate aim is, of course, to install an instantaneous hot-water heater over each bath-tub; but since it is Soviet building practice to finish an apartment building in as superficial a manner as possible ultimate aims have little bearing on the present facts of the case.

Therefore, in order to bathe, water must be heated. And in order to heat water, one must have a receptacle.

Now, in the summer of 1930, there was a plethora of nice, big shiny galvanized garbage cans. Therefore in lieu of water buckets, a garbage can may be pressed into service. As for buying a second garbage can—foolish thought! Are not quota laws as irrevocable as the laws of the Medes and the Persians?

At this juncture I must explain the Russian stove in the bath-kitchen, the primus. It is a single plate, kerosene burning contraption that burns with the roar of a blowlorch.

Now, let us say that a hour has been selected that in no way conflicts with the preparations for breakfast, dinner, lunch, or the servants' bedtime, and let us say that one garbage can full of water has been heated.

But, alas, unless it is by dead of night there will be no bath for you. For you have been unable to purchase materials with which to screen your bath-kitchen windows; and since, due to the hollow square type of architecture effected in modern Soviet-built apartments, the interior of every kitchen is easily visible to the world, you are to the courtyard or to the neighboring kitchen balcony and since the American species of human beings absorb the hourly interest of every Russian neighbor and balconies of courtyards are usually crowded with interested observers of the doings in foreigners' kitchens, you are faced with the prospect of performing your ablutions under the watchful eyes of an attentive audience of both sexes, or deciding that you do not choose to bathe. Of course, you do not choose to bathe. You give much thought to the bath situation and soon you clasp your hands gleefully. You will have a sponge bath in your room every morning, a la garbage can. But peace of mind is not for long. You have overlooked the fact that ice boxes are not to be had, and that when the thermometer begins flitting around ninety-eight in the shade something must be done with the left over meat.

The servant solves the preservation of food problem by the half filling of the now useless bath tub with cold water and sinking the garbage can into it, weighed down with many pottery vessels containing the left-overs. All of which meets with your approval; but what about a receptacle for your morning bath?

Fortunately, at the psychological moment the government permits the domestic consumption of galvanized tubs and water buckets.

But speedily the miniature bath tub becomes tiresome. In the first place, a bath always seems to assume the proportions of a major event in the household. As the days become hotter and hotter, the mind begins to be tormented by thoughts of clear, cool waters.

And so dawns the day when the American woman, fortified by the presence of an equally daring friend, invades a Russian public bath for the first time. Now it seems that it is a Soviet law that no bathing suits are to be worn in Russian swimming pools. One must be very clean before one steps in to a Russian pool—so clean in fact that one must first pass an examination inspection—and how, pray, is one to inspect if the subject wears a bathing suit?

The pool is of regulation size and the water is absolutely clean. Overhead is a large balcony which speedily fills with naked feminine spectators who are curious to see how the Amerikananka swims. We had the pool to ourselves until we were suddenly joined by two of the three attendants out in the dressing-room who had baffled our attempts to wear swimming suits.

We hastily dressed and departed. It was our first—and last—experience!

Public shower baths or douches as they are called, are to be found in the large parks which are among the most attractive features of modern Russian cities. There was a brand new very clean douche in a park near our apartment and after the American colony discovered it.

It was the customary practice to patronize it at an hour that was ascertained to be out of favor with the native population.

One day, like a bolt from the blue, the wife of an American engineer was forcibly ejected from her shower by the male manager of the douche and two female attendants because she was using soap! Why was soap barred from the Soviet showers? The reason advanced was that "the use of soap will block the pipes of Russian drains." However because of the fact that it is a commodity of which there is a continual shortage (Russian soap is being sold abroad) one might almost hazard the guess that the government is mercifully trying to assist the public to bear it with greater fortitude by instituting a law forbidding the use of soap in a Soviet shower bath.

Which, of course, tempts me to the doubtful witticism that once the Soviet war in religion is won, the next victims will be the bathers because "cleanliness is next to godliness."

W.C.T.U. DIRECTS ACTION AT ALBERTA GOVERNMENT

Edmonton, Oct. 17. — Protesting that the petition of 55,000 electors in Alberta had been unfairly deferred by the provincial government at its last session, and that faith had been broken by the premier and his advisers, the Alberta W.C.T.U. in convention Friday morning passed a resolution requesting the premier to have passed an order-in-council closing beer rooms of the province immediately.

Believing the Alberta co-operators on government liquor stores to be a degradation the convention passed a resolution asking for legislation to have the co-ops removed.

Since favored clubs in the province, it was claimed, were given permission to sell beer on the Sabbath the convention protested the action of the liquor commissioner in this matter.

Other resolutions condemned milit-

Maple sugar and maple syrup produced in Canada in the spring of 1931 had an estimated value of $3,537,700 of which the former accounted for $260,500. The latter for $2,666,500. The Province of Quebec is the largest producer in the Dominion.

Following a long succession of shipments in an experiment commenced a year ago, thirty-five cars of beef cattle, the bulk of them for British consumption, left Winnipeg recently by special Canadian Pacific train for the Atlantic seaboard for shipment to Great Britain.

Thousands of salmon recently "took the elevator" on their way to the spawning grounds in the upper sections of the St. Lawrence River, British Columbia, when they used the fishway built by the Canadian Government Department of Fisheries to overcome the tumbling waters at Stamp Falls.

With the departure on October 1 of the big Sikorsky amphibian plane for Boston, the Pan-American Airways concluded their service between Boston and Halifax which was inaugurated August 1. In August, 70 passengers were carried on the southbound trips and 67 northbound in 15 flying days.

Manitoba's threshing was practically complete for 1931 in the first week of October, according to the weekly crop statement of the Canadian Pacific Railway department of agriculture. Saskatchewan was then 61 per cent, threshed and Alberta 55 per cent, with northern areas in each province still holding heavy crops ripening for the machines.

His Excellency the Earl of Beesborough, Governor-General of Canada, together with his eldest son, Viscount Duncannon, have in view hunting and fishing trips to the Yukon next summer. During his recent visit to the province, His Excellency was presented with a complimentary hunting and fishing license by Hon. C. D. Richards, Premier of New Brunswick.

Completion of organization work of the Dominion Agricultural Credit Company was announced recently by E. W. Batty, chairman and president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, who stated that "subscription to over sixty per cent of the capital stock of the company have been received and the requisite steps to complete the organization have been taken." Head office of the company will be in Regina.

The new dental car, built by the Canadian Pacific Railway and equipped by the Dominion, Toronto, Chapter of the I. O. D. This car, claimed to be unique on the continent, will have running rights over all railway lines in Northern Ontario and is equipped with fully modern dental facilities, waiting room, living accommodation, laboratory, consulting room, clinic and dental chair.

The number of Canadians who are part owners of the Canadian Pacific Railway has increased in the year ago, on September 2, the total number of the company's common stockholders was 26,185. On September 1 of this year the number had grown to 35,217, an increase of 8,032 shareholders. Only of these have been added since the recent break in the security market carried stock prices to new low levels, indicating that Canadians have confidence in the country's ability to "come back" to prosperity. The department of education and teachers' association will be petitioned to give more attention to the teaching of the evils of alcohol on mental and physical health, with a course for normal students dealing with this subject.

The plan of work for the year was endorsed with special attention to a drive for members to be known as "Louise McKinney Memorial" members.

The finance committee presenting its report announced the allocation per member, $1.90 for the coming year. It was agreed that Mr. L. J. Mackenzie, who has been doing temperance work in some 60 miles of northern Canadian territory he employed for only six months owing to present conditions. Special tribute was paid to this worker for his translation of books on scientific temperance into the Ukrainian language.

The convention decided to send its newly-elected president, Mrs. William White as delegate to the dominion convention in Montreal next year.

"The W.C.T.U. is a university of reform where every woman who wants to work for God and country can find work to do," was the thought left with the convention by Mrs. W. Salt of Calgary, who gave a graphic resume of the world's convention in Toronto.

A comprehensive report of the Sunday school temperance competitions was given by Mrs. A. E. Cook. Over 14 branches in the province took up this work during the past year and assisted by arranging contests and giving prizes. The fourth national temperance course will be held this year. Mrs. Cook announced.

Denouncing the Alberta government for its treatment of the petition to do away with beer at the last session of the legislature, Mr. H. H. Hull was speaker on Thursday afternoon. The W.C.T.U., he claimed, is one of the strongest and he urged the members to consider no compromise with the government while there is misery among the women and children of this province. Mr. Hull took issue with Premier Brownlee's statement that the purchasing power of the farmer was diminished 70 per cent because of the drop in the price of wheat. He claimed buying power diminished because of the amount of money spent in alcoholic beverages. The beer barons of the various countries have millions of dollars tied up, Mr. Hull declared.

Closing, he urged that W. C. T. U. members in every district wait on their representative in the legislature and find out his attitude before the question of the referendum comes up at the next session.

Quick RELIEF from pain

A lot of things can cause a headache or other pain, but there is one thing that will always give you relief! Just take a tablet or two of Aspirin. Your suffering ceases. Relief comes instantly, regardless of what may have been making your head throb with pain.

Aspirin is harmless—cannot depress the heart. So there's no use waiting for a headache to "wear off." It is useless to endure pain of any kind when you can get Aspirin. It is a blessing to women who suffer regular systemic pain; to men who must work on, in spite of eye-strain, fatigue or neuralgia.

Learn its quick relief for colds; for neuritis, rheumatism, lumbago. Be sure to get Genuine Aspirin. All druggists keep Aspirin tablets.

SAFETY THROUGH PROMPT ACTION

In Canada, approximately 100,000 deaths occur each year. Out of the total number, just over 8,000 are the direct result of tuberculosis. In our campaign against this disease, we are encouraged to know that, despite the heavy toll of human lives which tuberculosis continues to take, the number has nevertheless been greatly reduced. Year by year, the ravages of tuberculosis are being lessened.

But what of those individuals who make up the present number of victims? Can nothing more be done for them than is being done? We have no specific means of prevention against tuberculosis, nor has there been discovered, as yet, any specific remedy to cure the disease. Tuberculosis is fought, and fought successfully, through leading a hygienic life. The person who has developed tuberculosis and who goes to a sanatorium for treatment, is not given drugs or other remedies. The treatment consists of rest, fresh air and proper food. He lives a hygienic life and takes an additional amount of rest. Rest is necessary in order to allow the diseased part to heal.

The power of nature to overcome tuberculosis and bring about a cure is great. The disease is generally a long-drawn-out conflict between the germ of the disease and the body. The body stands an excellent chance of winning, provided that, at an early stage of the disease, it is given a fair chance to do so through rest, fresh air and proper food.

The cases which occur are due, first of all, to exposure to the germs of tuberculosis which come from someone who has the disease, to which is added failure to live a healthy life, giving the germs their chance to multiply and cause trouble. Most of the deaths which now occur are due to the failure of the individual attacked to secure treatment early. Safety demands prompt action; danger follows delay.

In order that cases may be treated early, it is necessary that they be recognized early. This means that the case must go early to his doctor and be examined. The person who goes to his doctor once a year for a health examination gives the physician the opportunity to discover such diseases as tuberculosis in their early stages, and so secures early treatment.

The person who has a persistent cough, or who has lost weight, or who finds that his ordinary work tires him when it did not do so formerly, should realize that such conditions are suggestive of tuberculosis. They may not be, but if they are, the sooner it is known the better, for then treatment can be started.

If tuberculosis does occur, safety lies in prompt treatment and in nothing else.

Try Magnesia For Indigestion

People who suffer from indigestion usually have tried pepsin, charcoal, drugs and various digestive aids and get little more than slight temporary relief—sometimes not even that.

But before giving up to chronic dyspepsia, just try the effect of a little Bisurated Magnesia—not the ordinary commercial carbonate, citrate or milk, but pure Bisurated Magnesia which you can obtain from any druggist in either powder or tablet form.

Take a teaspoonful of the powder or four tablets with a little water after your next meal, and see what a difference this makes. It will instantly neutralize the dangerous, harmful acid in the stomach which now causes your food to ferment and sour, making gas, wind, flatulence, heartburn and the bloated or heavy lumpy feeling that seems to follow most everything you eat. You can enjoy your meals without a fear of indigestion.

Last Sunday was another Red Letter Day for the Millet Boy Scouts, when 22 Scouts under Scoutmaster E. Moore and Assistant Scoutmaster R. F. Dixon, left town at 8:30 a.m., on their way to Mr. John West's hunting lodge, 17 miles east of town. They hiked as far as the collier, when a truck piloted by A. M. Dunn came along and conveyed them the rest of the way. Shortly after their arrival they were treated to a most sumptuous dinner, after which they hiked around Mr. West's farm for a couple of hours, then they had a course of signalling, followed by some games. Supper was then announced to which all did full justice. Mr. Moore then called the gathering to order and on behalf of the Scouts spoke a few words of thanks to Mr. and Mrs. West for their kind hospitality. Mr. West replied briefly. The meeting adjourned at 5:30, when the hostess served a delicious tea.

MILLET WOMEN'S INSTITUTE

A large number of members and visitors spent a very pleasant afternoon at the W.I. meeting after Mrs. von Arx. The merry hum of threshing machines was heard on all sides. Oh, it's a grand and glorious country (judging by the number of grain trucks passed on the road). The day was one of the most perfect of "Indian Summer." The roll call was "Something we are thankful for," and proved most witty and interesting. Among business matters discussed was the card party at Mrs. von Arx on Friday, Nov. 13th, to provide Christmas cheer for needy ones. A sing song was then enjoyed, led by Mrs. Dowler (pianist). A delicious lunch was served by the hostess, assisted by Mesdames Phillips and H. Arnold. Mrs. R. Hoskins kindly offered her home for the next meeting.

WHEAT YIELD IN ALBERTA IS SET AT 17.5 BUSHELS

Edmonton, Oct. 19.—With threshing operations completed in the south and nearing completion in central and northern districts, Alberta seems certain to harvest the average of 17.5 bushels of wheat to the acre, according to the provincial government summary issued Saturday.

Grain threshed earlier in the season contained a considerable portion which graded tough, but the majority being threshed now is receiving straight grades of numbers 1 and 2. Northern, the report shows. If present weather conditions continue, the amount of tough grain in central and northern districts will be relatively small.

Threshing is proceeding rapidly, with the amount completed varying from 80 per cent in Peace River district, 75 per cent in central districts to 100 per cent in the south.

Lacombe reports yields of from 30 to 75 bushels of wheat, 50 to 100 bushels of oats and 30 to 60 bushels of barley. At Vermilion the estimated average yield of wheat is 30 bushels per acre and the Peace River district an average of 20 bushels of wheat; 40 bushels of oats per acre are being obtained.

The greater part of the potato and root crop has already been harvested and excellent yields and good quality are reported. On the irrigated districts threshing of sweet clover and alfalfa for seed is well advanced. About 80 per cent of the best crop has been lifted, 45,000 tons are now stored at the factory at Raymond, and large quantities are still at farms awaiting shipment. The sugar content is reported to be high, and the sugar beet factory is operating at full capacity, cutting 1,050 tons of beets daily.

Pasture conditions in all parts of the province with the exception of the east-central and southeastern districts are excellent. Late rains in the southwest have considerably improved pastures and made fall plowing possible.

BROWNLEE ASKS CUT $2,000 INDEMNITY OF MEMBERS

Edmonton, Oct. 17.—Members of the house will be asked by the government at the next session to consider cutting their sessional indemnity of $2,000 and thus make a contribution toward helping the province meet financial hardships, caused through increased expenditures for unemployment relief.

Premier Brownlee stated Saturday morning that in view of the existing circumstances the government will ask the house to consider making a reduction in the indemnity. This was a matter over which the members of the house themselves had control.

BROWNLEE REPORTS DEFICIT OF $2,000,000 FOR ALBERTA

For the first time in several years and reflecting the prevailing financial situation, provincial financing for the year ending March 31 last shows a deficit ending March 31 last $2,110 according to a statement made on Wednesday by Premier J. E. Brownlee.

In preceding years, from 1925 to 1930 the province showed a surplus of revenue over expenditure of $2,401,385.94.

Alberta's deficit is considerably lower than those of either neighboring provinces, it being known that Saskatchewan's is in the neighborhood of $3,500,000 and that of British Columbia's is in excess of $3,000,000.

"Without wishing in any way to detract from the amount of the deficit," said the Premier, "it is only fair to the general public to point out that this deficit hardly reflects a fair statement of the annual operating results of the year as two or three items alone, involving approximately $604,000, must be considered as special expenditures not ordinarily included for in the expenditure of a year.

These are the provincial general election of June 19, 1930 which cost $160,000; the freight charges on seed and relief to drought areas, which amounted to $57,000, and extra grants to schools, which amounted to $387,000."
